

TAB legacy software replacement services

Replace legacy software with TAB FusionRMS to deliver speed, power and total control while managing the lifecycle of a record.

As companies review their existing technologies, it is important to take a close look at your current records management technology or software to ensure you have the right solution to manage your most important information assets. Are you seeing end of life notices and limited development with your current technology vendor? We can help!

Evaluate your current records management technology for gaps in features and functions, along with any potential end of life issues through your current vendor.

Establish your organization’s future requirements in managing information, considering taxonomy for both physical collections and digital content, retention, etc.

Understand your IT strategy and how a technology partner can help you make the shift to a web-based model and cloud hosted Software as a Service.

Select a partner that has records management experience, a strong developmental roadmap, best in class services to ensure a smooth transition and high level of user adoption.
